Ideas for reading

Written by Clare Dowdall, PhD
Lecturer and Primary Literacy Consultant

Learning objectives: discuss understanding and explore the meaning of words in context; evaluate how authors use language, including figurative language, considering the impact on the reader; identify the audience for and the purpose of writing; select the appropriate form; use spoken language to participate in discussions, presentations, performances, role play, improvisations and debates.

Curriculum links: Geography
Interest words: lowest-of-the-low, innocents, hag, predictions, loyalty, betrayal, successor, oaf, provisions, outlaws, proclaimed, summoned, unkempt, confronted, ambitious
Resources: ICT for creating an advert; paper and pencils

Getting started

- Read p1 together. Ask children what they can infer about the setting and the mood of the story from the text and illustrations. Probe them for suggestions about where and when the story is set and about the character of Macbeth.
- Explain that this story is a tale of ambition. Discuss what being 'ambitious' means, drawing examples from children's own experience.

Reading and responding

- Read p2 together. Ask children what they can infer and deduce from this prologue, e.g. that Macbeth is a murderer, that his story is famous, that the story is terrible.
- Explain that the prologue is powerful because of the language used by Conn, e.g. 'I'm the lowest of the low'. Check that children understand what this means and ask children what they notice about his narration, e.g. that he addresses the reader directly; that he speaks in short incomplete sentences; that he lists facts to build tension etc.

Returning to the book

- Ask children to recount what has happened to Macbeth in their own words. Discuss the weird sisters' predictions and whether they came true.
- Using pp78-79, (The path to power; the path to destruction), ask children to discuss how the story is structured. Help children to see that the story works in two parts and involves Macbeth's rise and fall.
- Still focusing on pp78-79, ask children to suggest the key points in the story when Macbeth's ambition is fuelled (e.g. meeting the weird women, pp7-11; being convinced to kill Duncan by Lady Macbeth, pp24-25). Direct children to these parts of the story to find examples of this.
- Explore the character of Lady Macbeth. Ask children to walk through the story to find references to her. Use sticky notes to index where she is mentioned. Discuss her character using the question: Is Lady Macbeth a good wife? Encourage children to refer to the text when giving their ideas.

Checking and moving on

- Help children to improvise scenes from pp3-6 (the battle) and pp7-11 (where Macbeth meets the weird women). Support children to develop dialogue and present the scenes in role.
- Challenge children to create a Lady Macbeth timeline that shows her rise and fall.
- Interview a child in role as Conn to help develop children's understanding about Conn's character and his part in the events.

The Story of the Electric Guitar

Jimi Hendrix

Ask any guitar player who is the most inspirational and innovative guitarist that's ever lived, and the chances are they'll say it's Jimi Hendrix.

He was born in Seattle, USA, in 1942 and first found success when he came to England in 1967. News of this incredible guitarist spread fast, and many English guitarists - including Pete Townshend of The Who and George Harrison of The Beatles - went to Hendrix's shows to see what the fuss was all about. They were worried, Hendrix could do things they'd never dreamt of.

SPORT

Includes inspirational stories about sporting heroes and information on the world's biggest sports events.

Goals

Now that the Football Association had agreed clear rules, competitions could happen. In 1872, the FA Cup was started in England, and a similar one began in Scotland the year after.

The first three English FA Cup Finals were played with legs stretched between the goalposts. It caused arguments when the ball hit the legs: had it gone under or over? So a kind of goalkeeper was introduced, made of wood or metal. By 1880, most football grounds had them.

The 1881 FA Cup Final between West Bromwich Albion and Aston Villa is one that!

Then, in 1889, another bright day came along. During an important game, the players quarrelled about whether somebody really had scored. A football fan called John Alexander Biddle, who was watching, wondered how he could stop all that. So he invented the goal net!

In 2013, the English Premier League brought in an electronic system. Cameras and computers could now tell the referee whether a ball had crossed the goal line. But a ball nesting in the back of a net is still the clearest sign of a goal.
