

MEERKAT'S MUDDLE

Meerkats, who belong to the mongoose family, are small carnivores.

They live in the Kalahari and the Namib Deserts, which are in Africa.

There will often be about 20 meerkats in a group, which is called a mob, clan or gang.

The meerkat, whose tail is used for balance and signaling, has a body length of 42–60 cm.
