Foreword for language teachers

The Easy Learning French Grammar & Practice is designed to be used with both young and adult learners, as a group revision and practice book to complement your course book during classes, or as a recommended text for self-study and homework/coursework.

The text specifically targets learners from ab initio to intermediate or GCSE level, and therefore its structural content and vocabulary have been matched to the relevant specifications up to and including Higher GCSE.

The approach aims to develop knowledge and understanding of grammar and your learners’ ability to apply it by:

- defining parts of speech at the start of each major section with examples in English to clarify concepts
- minimizing the use of grammar terminology and providing clear explanations of terms both within the text and in the Glossary
- illustrating all points with examples (and their translations) based on topics and contexts which are relevant to beginner and intermediate course content
- providing exercises which allow learners to practice grammar points

The text helps you develop positive attitudes to grammar learning in your classes by:

- giving clear, easy-to-follow explanations
- highlighting useful Tips to deal with common difficulties
- summarizing Key points at the end of sections to consolidate learning
- illustrating Key points with practice examples
Introduction for students

Whether you are starting to learn French for the very first time, brushing up on topics you have studied in class, or revising for your GCSE exams, the Easy Learning French Grammar & Practice is here to help. This easy-to-use revision and practice guide takes you through all the basics you will need to speak and understand modern, everyday French.

Newcomers can sometimes struggle with the technical terms they come across when they start to explore the grammar of a new language. The Easy Learning French Grammar & Practice explains how to get to grips with all the parts of speech you will need to know, using simple language and cutting out jargon.

The text is divided into sections, each dealing with a particular area of grammar. Each section can be studied individually, as numerous cross-references in the text point you to relevant points in other sections of the book for further information.

Every major section begins with an explanation of the area of grammar covered on the following pages. For quick reference, these definitions are also collected together on pages vii–xii in a glossary of essential grammar terms.

What is a verb?

A verb is a ‘doing’ word which describes what someone or something does, what someone or something is, or what happens to them, for example, be, sing, live.

Each grammar point in the text is followed by simple examples of real French, complete with English translations, to help you understand the rules. Underlining has been used in examples throughout the text to highlight the grammatical point being explained.

➤ If you are talking about a part of your body, you usually use a word like my or his in English, but in French you usually use the definite article.

- Tourne la tête à gauche. Turn your head to the left.
- Il s’est cassé le bras. He’s broken his arm.
- J’ai mal à la gorge. My throat hurts.

In French, as with any foreign language, there are certain pitfalls which have to be avoided. Tips and Information notes throughout the text are useful reminders of the things that often trip learners up.

Tip

If you are in doubt as to which form of you to use, it is safest to use vous so you will not offend anybody.

Key points sum up all the important facts about a particular area of grammar, to save you time when you are revising and help you focus on the main grammatical points.
After each Key point you can find a number of exercises to help you practice all the important grammatical points. You can find the answer to each exercise on pages 260-276.

If you think you would like to continue with your French studies to a higher level, check out the Grammar Extra sections. These are intended for advanced students who are interested in knowing a little more about the structures they will come across beyond GCSE.

Grammar Extra!

If you want to use an adjective after quelque chose, rien, quelqu’un and personne, you link the words with de.

quelqu’un d’important  someone important quelque chose d’intéressant  something interesting rien d’amusant  nothing funny

Finally, the supplement at the end of the book contains Verb Tables, where 21 important French verbs (both regular and irregular) are declined in full. Examples show you how to use these verbs in your own work.

We hope that you will enjoy using the Easy Learning French Grammar & Practice and find it useful in the course of your studies.
Glossary of Grammar Terms

ABSTRACT NOUN a word used to refer to a quality, idea, feeling or experience, rather than a physical object, for example, size, reason, happiness. Compare with concrete noun.

ADJECTIVE a ‘describing’ word that tells you more about a person or thing, such as their appearance, colour, size or other qualities, for example, pretty, blue, big.

ADVERB a word usually used with verbs, adjectives or other adverbs that gives more information about when, where, how or in what circumstances something happens, for example, quickly, happily, now.

AGREE (to) to change word endings according to whether you are referring to masculine, feminine, singular or plural people or things.

AGREEMENT changing word endings according to whether you are referring to masculine, feminine, singular or plural people or things.

APOSTROPHE S an ending (‘s) added to a noun to show who or what someone or something belongs to, for example, Danielle’s dog, the doctor’s wife, the book’s cover.

ARTICLE a word like the, a and an, which is used in front of a noun. See also definite article, indefinite article and partitive article.

AUXILIARY VERB a verb such as be, have and do when it is used with a main verb to form tenses and questions.

BASE FORM the form of the verb without any endings added to it, for example, walk, have, be, go. Compare with infinitive.

CARDINAL NUMBER a number used in counting, for example, one, seven, ninety. Compare with ordinal number.

CLAUSE a group of words containing a verb.

COMPARATIVE an adjectival or adverb with `-er` on the end of it, or more or less in front of it, that is used to compare people, things or actions, for example, slower, less important, more carefully.

COMPOUND NOUN a word for a living being, thing or idea, which is made up of two or more words, for example, tin-opener, railway station.

CONCRETE NOUN a word that refers to an object you can touch with your hand, rather than to a quality or idea, for example, ball, map, apples. Compare with abstract noun.

CONDITIONAL a verb form used to talk about things that would happen or would be true under certain conditions, for example, I would help you if I could. It is also used to say what you would like or need, for example, Could you give me the bill?

CONJUGATE (to) to give a verb different endings according to whether you are referring to I, you, they and so on, and according to whether you are referring to past, present or future, for example, I have, she has, he had.

CONJUGATION a group of verbs which have the same endings as each other or change according to the same pattern.

CONJUNCTION a word such as and, because or but that links two words or phrases of a similar type, or two parts of a sentence, for example, Diane and I have been friends for years; I left because I was bored.

CONSONANT a letter of the alphabet which is not a vowel, for example, b, f, m, s, v. Compare with vowel.

NOUN a ‘naming’ word for a living being, thing or idea, for example, woman, desk, happiness, Andrew.

NUMBER used to say how many things you are referring to or where something comes in a sequence. See also ordinal number and cardinal number.

OBJECT a noun or pronoun which refers to a person or thing that is affected by the action described by the verb. Compare with direct object, indirect object and subject.

OBJECT PRONOUN one of the set of pronouns including me, him and them, which are used instead of the noun as the object of a verb or preposition. Compare with subject pronoun.

ORDINAL NUMBER a number used to indicate where something comes in an order or sequence, for example, first, fifth, sixteenth. Compare with cardinal number.

PART OF SPEECH a word class, for example, noun, verb, adjective, preposition, pronoun.

PARTITIVE ARTICLE the words some or any, used to refer to part of a thing but not all of it, for example, Have you got any money?; I’m going to buy some bread.

PASSIVE a form of the verb that is used when the subject of the verb is the person or thing that is affected by the action, for example, we were told.

PAST PARTICIPLE a verb form which is used to form perfect and pluperfect tenses and passives, for example, watched, swum. Some past participles are also used as adjectives, for example, a broken watch.

PERFECT one of the verb tenses used to talk about the past, especially about actions that took place and were completed in the past. Compare with imperfect.

PERSON one of the three classes: the first person (I, we), the second person (you singular and you plural), and the third person (he, she, it and they).

PERSONAL PRONOUN one of the group of words including I, you and they which are used to refer to yourself, the people you are talking to, or the people or things you are talking about.

PLUPERFECT one of the verb tenses used to describe something that had happened or had been true at a point in the past, for example, I had forgotten to finish my homework.
PLURAL the form of a word which is used to refer to more than one person or thing. Compare with singular.

POSSESSIVE ADJECTIVE one of the words my, your, his, her, its, our or their, used with a noun to show that one person or thing belongs to another.

POSSESSIVE PRONOUN one of the words mine, yours, hers, his, ours or theirs, used instead of a noun to show that one person or thing belongs to another.

PREPOSITION is a word such as at, for, with, into or from, which is usually followed by a noun, pronoun or, in English, a word ending in -ing. Prepositions show how people and things relate to the rest of the sentence, for example, She’s at home; a tool for cutting grass; it’s from David.

PRESENT a verb form used to talk about what is true at the moment, what happens regularly, and what is happening now, for example, I’m a student; I travel to college by train; I’m studying languages.

PRESENT PARTICIPLE a verb form ending in -ing which is used in English to form verb tenses, and which may be used as an adjective or a noun, for example, What are you doing?; the setting sun; Swimming is easy!

PRONOUN a word which you use instead of a noun, when you do not need or want to name someone or something directly, for example, it, you, none.

PROPER NOUN the name of a person, place, organization or thing. Proper nouns are always written with a capital letter, for example, Kevin, Glasgow, Europe, London Eye.

QUESTION WORD a word such as why, where, who, which or how which is used to ask a question.

REFLEXIVE PRONOUN a word ending in -self or -selves, such as myself or themselves, which refers back to the subject, for example, He hurt himself; Take care of yourself.

REFLEXIVE VERB a verb where the subject and object are the same, and where the action ‘reflects back’ on the subject. A reflexive verb is used with a reflexive pronoun such as myself, yourself, herself, for example, I washed myself; He hurt himself.

REGULAR VERB a verb whose forms follow a general pattern or the normal rules. Compare with irregular verb.

RELATIVE PRONOUN a word such as that, who or which, when it is used to link two parts of a sentence together.

SENTENCE a group of words which usually has a verb and a subject. In writing, a sentence has a capital letter at the beginning and a full stop, question mark or exclamation mark at the end.

SINGULAR the form of a word which is used to refer to one person or thing. Compare with plural.

STEM the main part of a verb to which endings are added.

STRESSED PRONOUN a word used instead of a noun when you want to emphasize something, for example, Is this for me?; ‘Who broke the window?’ – ‘He did.’ Also called emphatic pronoun.

SUBJECT the noun in a sentence or phrase that refers to the person or thing that does the action described by the verb or is in the state described by the verb, for example, My cat doesn’t drink milk. Compare with object.

SUBJECT PRONOUN a word such as I, he, she and they which carries out the action described by the verb. Pronouns stand in for nouns when it is clear who is being talked about, for example, My brother isn’t here at the moment. He’ll be back in an hour. Compare with object pronoun.
SUBJUNCTIVE a verb form used in certain circumstances to express some sort of feeling, or to show doubt about whether something will happen or whether something is true. It is only used occasionally in modern English, for example, If I were you, I wouldn’t bother.; So be it.

SUPERLATIVE an adjective or adverb with -est on the end of it or most or least in front of it, that is used to compare people, things or actions, for example, thinnest, most quickly, least interesting.

SYLLABLE a consonant+vowel unit that makes up all or part of a word, for example, ca-the-dr-al (3 syllables), im-po-ssi-ble (4 syllables).

TENSE the form of a verb which shows whether you are referring to the past, present or future.

VERB a ‘doing’ word which describes what someone or something does, what someone or something is, or what happens to them, for example, be, sing, live.

VOWEL one of the letters a, e, i, o or u. Compare with consonant.
Nouns

What is a noun?
A noun is a ‘naming’ word for a living being, thing or idea, for example, woman, happiness, Andrew.

Using nouns
➤ In French, all nouns are either masculine or feminine. This is called their gender. Even words for things have a gender.

➤ Whenever you are using a noun, you need to know whether it is masculine or feminine as this affects the form of other words used with it, such as:
  ● adjectives that describe it
  ● articles (such as le or une) that go before it
  ● pronouns (such as il or elle) that replace it

➤ For more information on Adjectives, Articles or Pronouns, see pages 32, 14 and 55.

➤ You can find information about gender by looking the word up in a dictionary. When you come across a new noun, always learn the word for the or a that goes with it to help you remember its gender.
  ● le or un before a noun tells you it is masculine
  ● la or une before a noun tells you it is feminine

➤ We refer to something as singular when we are talking about just one of them, and as plural when we are talking about more than one. The singular is the form of the noun you will usually find when you look a noun up in the dictionary. As in English, nouns in French change their form in the plural.

➤ Adjectives, articles and pronouns are also affected by whether a noun is singular or plural.

Tip
Remember that you have to use the right word for the and a according to the gender of the French noun.

Gender

Nouns referring to people ➤ Most nouns referring to men and boys are masculine.
  un homme a man
  un roi a king

➤ Most nouns referring to women and girls are feminine.
  une fille a girl
  une reine a queen
2 Nouns

➤ When the same word is used to refer to either men/boys or women/girls, its gender usually changes depending on the sex of the person it refers to.

un camarade  a (male) friend une camarade  a (female) friend un Belge  a Belgian (man)
une Belge  a Belgian (woman)

Grammar Extra!
Some words for people have only one possible gender, whether they refer to a male or a female.

un bébé  a (male or female) baby un guide  a (male or female) guide une personne  a (male or female) person une vedette  a (male or female) star

➤ In English, we can sometimes make a word masculine or feminine by changing the ending, for example, Englishman and Englishwoman, or prince and princess. In French, very often the ending of a noun changes depending on whether it refers to a man or a woman.

un Anglais  an Englishman une Anglaise  an Englishwoman un prince  a prince une princesse  a princess un employé  a (male) employee une employée  a (male or female) employee

☞ For more information on Masculine and feminine forms of words, see page 7.

Nouns referring to animals

➤ In English we can choose between words like bull or cow, depending on the sex of the animal we are referring to. In French too there are sometimes separate words for male and female animals.

un taureau  a bull
une vache  a cow

➤ Sometimes, the same word with different endings is used for male and female animals.

un chien  a (male) dog
une chienne  a (female) dog, a bitch

Tip
When you do not know or care what sex the animal is, you can usually use the masculine form as a general word.

➤ Words for other animals do not change according to the sex of the animal. Just learn the French word with its gender, which is always the same.

un poisson  a fish
une souris  a mouse

Nouns referring to things

➤ In English, we call all things – for example, table, car, book, apple – ‘it’. In French, however, things are either masculine or feminine. As things do not divide into sexes the way humans and animals do, there are no physical clues to help you with their gender in French. Try to learn the gender as you learn the word.

For further explanation of grammatical terms, please see pages viii-xii.
There are lots of rules to help you:

- words ending in -e are generally feminine
  - une boulangerie a baker’s
  - une banque a bank
- words ending in a consonant (any letter except a, e, i, o or u) are generally masculine
  - un aéroport an airport
  - un film a film

There are some exceptions to these rules, so it is best to check in a dictionary if you are unsure.

These endings are often found on masculine nouns.

Key points

✔ Most nouns referring to men, boys and male animals are masculine; most nouns referring to women, girls and female animals are feminine. The ending of a French noun often changes depending on whether it refers to a male or a female.

✔ Generally, words ending in -e are feminine and words ending in a consonant are masculine, though there are many exceptions to this rule.

✔ These endings are often found on masculine nouns: -age, -ment, -oir, -sme, -eau, -eu, -ou, -ier, -in and -on.

✔ These endings are often found on feminine nouns: -ance, -anse, -ence, -ense, -ion, -té and -tié.

✔ Days of the week, months and seasons of the year are masculine. So are languages, most metric weights and measures, and English nouns used in French.

Masculine and feminine forms of words

➤ In French there are sometimes very different words for men and women, and for male and female animals, just as in English.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Masculine</th>
<th>Feminine</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>un homme</td>
<td>a man</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>une femme</td>
<td>a woman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>un taureau</td>
<td>a bull</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>une vache</td>
<td>a cow</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>un neveu</td>
<td>a nephew</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>une nièce</td>
<td>a niece</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

➤ Many masculine French nouns can be made feminine simply by changing the ending. This is usually done by adding an -e to the masculine noun to form the feminine.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Masculine</th>
<th>Feminine</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>un ami</td>
<td>a (male) friend</td>

<tr>
<td>une employée</td>
<td>a (female) employee</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>un Français</td>
<td>a Frenchman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>une Française</td>
<td>a Frenchwoman</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

➤ If the masculine singular form already ends in -e, no further e is added.

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Tip
If a masculine noun ends in a vowel, its pronunciation does not change when an -e is added to form the feminine. For example, ami and amie (meaning friend) are both pronounced the same.

If a masculine noun ends with a consonant that is not pronounced, for example, -d, -s, -r or -t, you DO pronounce that consonant when an -e is added in the feminine. For example, in étudiant (meaning student), you cannot hear the t; in étudiante, you can hear the t.

Tip
Some masculine nouns, such as voisin (meaning neighbour), end in what is called a nasal vowel and an -n. With these words, you pronounce the vowel ‘through your nose’ but DO NOT say the n. When an -e is added in the feminine – for example, voisine – the vowel becomes a normal one instead of a nasal vowel and you DO pronounce the n.
Some other patterns

Some changes to endings from masculine to feminine are a little more complicated but still fall into a regular pattern.

Key points

✔ Many masculine French nouns can be made to refer to females by adding an -e. If the masculine singular form already ends in -e, no further e is added.
✔ The pronunciation of feminine nouns is sometimes different from that of the corresponding masculine nouns.
✔ Other patterns include:
  -f → -ve
  -x → -se
  -eur → -euse
  -teur → -teuse or -trice
  -an, -ien and -on → -anne, -et → -ette
  -el → -elle

Forming plurals

Plurals ending in -s

➤ In English we usually make nouns plural by adding an -s to the end (garden → gardens; house → houses), although we do have some nouns which are irregular and do not follow this pattern (mouse → mice; child → children).

Tip
Remember that les is the plural form of le, la and l’. Any adjective that goes with a plural noun has to agree with it, as does any pronoun that replaces it.

➤ For more information on Adjectives, Articles and Pronouns, see pages 32, 14 and 55.

➤ Most French nouns also form their plural by adding an -s to their singular form.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Singular</th>
<th>Plural</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>un jardin</td>
<td>a garden</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>des jardins</td>
<td>gardens</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>des voitures</td>
<td>cars</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>un hôtel</td>
<td>a hotel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>des hôtels</td>
<td>hotels</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

➤ If the singular noun ends in -s, -x or -z, no further -s is added in the plural.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

<td>voices</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>un nez</td>
<td>a nose</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>des nez</td>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Plurals ending in -x

➤ The following nouns add an -x instead of an -s in the plural:

- nouns ending in -eau
  un chapeau    a hat
  des chapeaux  hats

- most nouns ending in -eu
  un jeu        a game
  des jeux      games

- a FEW nouns ending in -ou (MOST nouns ending in -ou add -s as usual)
  un bijou      a jewel
  des bijoux    jewels
  un caillou    a pebble
  des cailloux  pebbles
  un chou       a cabbage
  des choux     cabbages
  un genou      a knee
  des genoux    knees

For further explanation of grammatical terms, please see pages viii-xii.
Nouns

un hibou  an owl
des hiboux  owls
un joujou  a toy
des joujoux  toys
un pou  a louse
des poux  lice

Tip
Adding an -s or -x to the end of a noun does not usually change the way the word is pronounced. For example, professeur and professeurs and chapeau and chapeaux sound just the same when you say them out loud.

➤ If the singular noun ends in -al or -ail, the plural usually ends in -aux.

un journal  a newspaper
des journaux  newspapers un animal  an animal des animaux  animals
un travail  a job
des travaux  jobs

Tip
The plural of un œil (an eye) is des yeux (eyes).

Plural versus singular

➤ A few words relating to clothing are plural in English but NOT in French.

un slip  pants
un short  shorts
un pantalon  trousers

➤ A few common words are plural in French but NOT in English.

les affaires  business
les cheveux  hair
des renseignements  information

Grammar Extra!
When nouns are made up of two separate words, they are called compound nouns, for example, les grands-parents (meaning grandparents), des ouvre-boîtes (meaning tin-openers). The rules for forming the plural of compound nouns are complicated and it is best to check in a dictionary to see what the plural is.
Key points

✔ Most French nouns form their plural by adding an -s to their singular form. If the singular noun ends in -s, -x or -z, no further -s is added in the plural.
✔ Most nouns ending in -eau or -eu add an -x in the plural.
✔ Most nouns ending in -ou take an -s in the plural, with a few exceptions.
✔ If the singular noun ends in -al or -ail, the plural usually ends in -aux.
✔ Adding an -s or -x to the end of a noun does not generally affect the way the word is pronounced.
✔ A few common words are plural in English but not in French, and vice versa.
