

Collins

LEARN
FRENCH with Paul Noble

Review booklet

This booklet provides you with a quick and easy way to review and reinforce what you have learned during your audio course. The booklet should be used after you have begun working through the audio course, as it is not designed to teach you French by itself.

Collins Learn French with Paul Noble

HarperCollins Publishers
Westerhill Road
Bishopbriggs
Glasgow
G64 2QT

www.collinsdictionary.com

First published 2010
Second edition 2012
Reprint 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1 0
© Paul Noble 2010

ISBN 978-0-00-736395-7

All rights reserved.

Edited by Joe Laredo and Naomi Laredo for Small Print

Typeset by Marc Marazzi

Other languages in the Collins with Paul Noble series:
Spanish, Italian and German

Contents

The Paul Noble Method	5
Find out more about Paul, his unique method and why it makes learning French so very easy.
How to use this booklet	7
Find out how this booklet can help you as you progress through the course.
Creating French words	8
This is a light and fun way to begin your French review and expand your vocabulary in French. It shows you how to change various English words into French ones so that, by using this very simple tool, you can quickly develop a French vocabulary of several thousand words – you will find it requires very little effort or time!
Core course review	10
Here you can review all the key structures and tenses you learnt during the course in a quick and easy way.
The past (using “have”)	11
The past (using “to be”)	19
The present	23
The future	32
Travelling in France	37
This is where you have a chance to use what you have learnt to deal with those everyday situations you are likely to come across when travelling in a French-speaking country.
At the hotel	38
Eating out	39
At the tourist office / Asking directions	41
Taking a train	42
A brief encounter	44
Shopping at the market	46

Seeing a doctor	48
Finding a campsite	50
Taking a taxi	51
At a café	51
Taking a bus	52
Introducing yourself	52
At the bakery	53
At the pharmacy	53

At a glance

Here you will find a snapshot of key verbs, numbers and the French alphabet, to help round off your knowledge of French.

Essential verbs: a snapshot	54
Numbers	57
The alphabet	60
Audio track order	62

The Paul Noble Method

Over the years, I have taught many, many people. Curiously, they have each had much the same story to tell regarding their previous experiences of language learning. As a result, these days, when I first start a teaching session, I ask my students to raise their hands if they have had any of the following experiences.

Raise your hand, I say:

- If you studied a language for several years at school but came out unable to really say anything.
- If you have ever bought a language course and given up around page thirty, somewhere around chapter two.
- If you have ever felt more confused by a teacher's explanation of the language than by the language itself.
- If you have ever been amazed by just how closely grammar books resemble furniture assembly instructions.
- If you have ever felt that you may in fact be more or less incapable of learning a foreign language.

Invariably, all the students soon have at least one hand in the air – and they laugh. They laugh because for some reason our language-learning experiences tend to be very similar and, sadly, these similar experiences tend not to be very good ones.

My own initial experiences of language learning were also uncannily similar to those described above. In fact, when I ask my students these questions, my own hand is the first to go up – and it stays up until we have gone through them all.

However, these less-than-positive experiences have had an upside both for myself and for those individuals I have taught because they, along with a number of other factors, have helped inform and shape the method that will be used during this course.

Using this method, you will learn how to communicate in French and how to formulate your own ideas and thoughts using French.

As you learn with it, you will quickly discover that I do not use complicated grammatical explanations at all, and I will not ask you to memorise long lists of vocabulary – the way the course is structured will by itself ensure that you remember what you are taught. Instead, through your interaction with the audio, I will lead you through the French language, enabling you to build up complex sentences by yourself, step by step, so that you are actually speaking independently in French by the end of the course. And this is regardless of how little, or how much, you know when you begin.

You will also discover that the language I teach is designed to be adaptable, so that you will be able to use it just as easily for holidaying in a French-speaking country as for living or working in one; it will be just as easy to use it to order a coffee as to hold a conversation with the waiter who brings it to you. And, again, all of this regardless of how little, or how much, you know when you begin.

At the time of writing, this method has already proved extremely successful with a very great many students, including hundreds of so-called “no-hopers”. Interestingly, not one of these students failed to learn using this method. It is these many success cases and thank-you letters – and even the occasional hug – that have made teaching languages so very worthwhile for me and it is this which has persuaded me to publish my courses here, for the first time.

I anticipate and hope that they will be as effective for you as they have been for so many of my other students.

Au revoir – and good luck!

Paul Noble

Paul Noble
Head of the Paul Noble Language Institute

How to use this booklet

This booklet has been designed to provide you with a quick and easy way to review and reinforce the key vocabulary, structures and contents of your Paul Noble Method French course.

Although the core part of your learning will take place via your use of the accompanying course audio, we have also included this booklet in order to provide you with a quick reference guide to the language, as well as a way to begin to get to grips with both reading and writing French, should you wish to do so.

It is worth noting that this booklet should be used after you have begun working through the accompanying audio. It will serve as excellent reinforcement, guidance and review material but is not designed to teach you French by itself. This is what the audio will do – and very rapidly, too. After you have begun working through the audio, you will find this booklet to be an extremely useful review and reference resource, but you must start by listening to the audio.

So, if you haven't done so already, go and start playing the audio. You are about to find out just how good a course this is!

Creating French words

Use these conversion techniques to create several thousand French words out of English.

Words ending in... in English	become... in French	Examples
ion	stay the same	transformation information invitation
age	stay the same	cage bandage courage
ade	stay the same	parade barricade escapade
ude	stay the same	attitude gratitude solitude
ure	stays the same	agriculture sculpture signature
ible/able	stay the same	possible terrible table
ant/ent	stay the same	important intelligent excellent
um	stay the same	album maximum minimum

Words ending in... in English	become... in French	Examples
ary	aire	ordinary = ordinaire salary = salaire solitary = solitaire
ory	oire	glory = gloire history = histoire victory = victoire
ic/ical	ique	political = politique typical = typique magic = magique
id	ide	candid = candide stupid = stupide timid = timide
sm	sme	optimism = optimisme pacifism = pacifisme sarcasm = sarcasme
ty	té	publicity = publicité activity = activité quality = qualité or	eur	doctor = docteur actor = acteur pastor = pasteur
ist	iste	artist = artiste pianist = pianiste fascist = fasciste
ian	ien (m) / ienne (f)	optician = opticien musician = musicien Parisian = Parisien
ive	if (m) / ive (f)	active = actif / active captive = captif / captive massive = massif / massive

Core course review

The best way to use this part of your booklet is to start by reading through a page, looking at both the English and the French. Then go back to the beginning of that same page and, while covering the French side of the text, translate the English into French – just as you did when you listened to the course audio.

Once you can get 90% of a page's content correct, move on to the next page and follow the process again. By doing this, you will quickly recall and reinforce what you learnt with the audio tracks.

The past (using “have”)

I	Je
have	ai
I have	J'ai

NOTE! Notice that, as there would be two vowels touching in Je ai, it contracts instead to J'ai – this is a common occurrence in French and one that you will quickly get used to.

visited	visité
the Louvre	le Louvre
I have visited the Louvre.	J'ai visité le Louvre.
the park	le parc
I have visited the park.	J'ai visité le parc.
prepared	préparé
I have prepared	J'ai préparé
the coffee	le café
I have prepared the coffee.	J'ai préparé le café.
for you	pour vous
I have prepared the coffee for you.	J'ai préparé le café pour vous.

English words which end in “ion” came into English through French. There are 1250 of them. If you know them in English, then you can use them in French.

reservation	réservation
invitation	invitation
decoration	décoration

If you take an “ion” word, such as préparation, cut off the “ation” on the end and add a café “é” in its place, you will have a word like préparé, which means prepared. This means you can now say: I have prepared, I have visited, I have decorated etc. Try the example below:

preparation	préparation
-------------	--------------------

The Past (using “have”)

Now, cut off the “ation”, which leaves you with “prépar”, and then add a café “é”. You will end up with préparé, which means prepared.

I have prepared	J'ai préparé
I have visited	J'ai visité
decoration	décoration
I have decorated	J'ai décoré
the house	la maison

NOTE! One of the best things about French, and one way in which it is easier than English, is that in order to talk about the past, you don't need to use as many different tenses as you would in English.

For instance, take the following sentences in English: I have decorated the house, I decorated the house, I did decorate the house. In French, these are all expressed in the same way, simply as: I have decorated the house, which in French is:

J'ai décoré la maison. The above three sentences can therefore be served by the same single tense in French.

Have a go at this using the following three prompts:

I've decorated the house.	J'ai décoré la maison.
I decorated the house.	J'ai décoré la maison.
I did decorate the house.	J'ai décoré la maison.

You see, they are all the same! This is excellent news, as it means you don't need to worry about switching between tenses when talking about events in the past in French.

reservation	réserveation
reserved	réservé
I have reserved	J'ai réservé
I have reserved a table.	J'ai réservé une table.
You have	Vous avez

You have reserved a table.

We have

We have reserved a table.

He has

He has reserved a table.

She has

She has reserved a table.

You have (inf.)

You have reserved a table. (inf.)

They have

They have reserved a table.

They have (female group)

They have reserved a table.

Vous avez réservé une table.

Nous avons

Nous avons réservé une table.

Il a

Il a réservé une table.

Elle a

Elle a réservé une table.

Tu as

Tu as réservé une table.

Ils ont

Ils ont réservé une table.

Elles ont

Elles ont réservé une table.

NOTE! As you may have noticed above, there are two words for they in French.

Normally, you will use ils for they. However, if you are talking about an entirely, 100%, female group – a group of five women, for example – you should use elles. If the group is male, or partly male, however, you will use ils – which is more or less the default form.

Even if a group contained 99 women and just 1 man, you would still use ils.

This is not something to worry or think too much about, though, and if in doubt use ils!

Asking questions in the past

There are several ways to ask questions in French. Let’s start by simply inverting the word order, as we do in English.

Inverting the word order

You have

Have you?

Have you visited?

Did you visit?

Vous avez

Avez-vous?

Avez-vous visité?

Avez-vous visité?

Notice that the above two phrases are both translated in the same way in French.

Did you visit the Louvre?

Yes, I visited the Louvre.

Have you visited the park?

Have you prepared the coffee?

Have you prepared roast beef for dinner?

Avez-vous visité le Louvre?

Oui, j’ai visité le Louvre.

Avez-vous visité le parc?

Avez-vous préparé le café?

Avez-vous préparé le rosbif
pour le dîner?

NOTE! Notice how the French use the words for the in French (le/la/les) more than we use the in English. You can see this in the above example. Literally: Have you prepared the roast beef for the dinner? The best way to get used to this is simply to remember the French word with the “the” already attached to it and then use it in that way. So think of dinner not as dîner but as le dîner, and think of roast beef not as rosbif but as le rosbif.

Have you decorated the house?

Did you decorate the house?

Have you reserved a table for dinner?

We have

Have we?

Avez-vous décoré la maison?

Avez-vous décoré la maison?

Avez-vous réservé une table
pour le dîner?

Nous avons

Avons-nous?

Have we reserved a table for dinner?

Avons-nous réservé une table pour le dîner?

Have we visited the Louvre?

Avons-nous visité le Louvre?

Using “est-ce que...?”

Another way to ask a question in French is to put est-ce que...? (literally: is it that...?) in front of a statement.

We have reserved a table.

Nous avons réservé une table.

Have we reserved a table?

Est-ce que nous avons réservé une table?

You have decorated the house.

Vous avez décoré la maison.

Have you decorated the house?

Est-ce que vous avez décoré la maison?

Using a rising intonation

Another way to ask a question is to use a rising intonation, as we do in English. However, this is used far more frequently in French than it is in English. To ask a question this way, simply raise the pitch of your voice at the end of the sentence.

Try the examples below. First say the sentence as a statement, and then try again, this time raising your pitch at the end to change it into a question.

He has reserved a table.

Il a réservé une table.

Has he reserved a table?

Il a réservé une table?

They have prepared roast beef for dinner.

Ils ont préparé le rosbif pour le dîner.

Have they prepared roast beef for dinner?

Ils ont préparé le rosbif pour le dîner?

NOTE! Although a rising intonation is used very frequently in speech in order to ask a question in French, it is not normally used in writing. Why? Well, simply because the reader cannot hear you when you raise your pitch at the end of the sentence, can they? So, when writing, use est-ce que...? or invert the word order.

Using “it” in the past

I have prepared.

I have prepared it.

J’ai préparé.

Je l’ai préparé.

NOTE! Notice how, unlike in English, the “it” goes before “have” – not after it.

For this, keep in mind the simple rule you learnt during the course: “have” always steals the pronouns and places them directly in front of itself. (Pronouns are little words like it, me, you, us, him, her, them.)

You have prepared.

You prepared it.

We have prepared it.

to buy

bought

We have bought it.

He has bought it.

to understand

understood

He has understood it.

She has understood it.

You have understood it. (inf.) → 1

to eat eaten

They have eaten it.

They have eaten it. (female group)

Vous avez préparé.

Vous l’avez préparé.

Nous l’avons préparé.

acheter

acheté

Nous l’avons acheté.

Il l’a acheté.

comprendre

compris

Il l’a compris.

Elle l’a compris.

Tu l’as compris.

manger

mangé

Ils l’ont mangé.

Elles l’ont mangé.

→ JARGON BUSTER 1

Inf. = informal (referring here to the tu form of address used when talking to family, close friends and children).

Using “some/any” in the past

I have eaten it.
some / some of it / any / any of it
I have eaten some of it.
to find found
They have found it.
They have found some of it.
He has found some of it.
She has found some of it.
You have found some of it. (inf.)
You have found some of it.
Have you found some of it?

Je l'ai mangé.
en
J'en ai mangé.
trouver trouvé
Ils l'ont trouvé.
Ils en ont trouvé.
Il en a trouvé.
Elle en a trouvé.
Tu en as trouvé.
Vous en avez trouvé.
Est-ce que vous en
avez trouvé?

Using negatives in the past

I have
I have prepared.
I have prepared it.
I haven't prepared it.
I didn't prepare it.
You haven't prepared it.
You didn't prepare it.
You didn't prepare any (of it).
You didn't find it.
We didn't find it.
We didn't find any (of it).
to buy
bought
We didn't buy it.
to sell sold
We didn't sell it.
to see

J'ai
J'ai préparé.
Je l'ai préparé.
Je ne l'ai pas préparé.
Je ne l'ai pas préparé.
Vous ne l'avez pas préparé.
Vous ne l'avez pas préparé.
Vous n'en avez pas préparé.
Vous ne l'avez pas trouvé.
Nous ne l'avons pas trouvé.
Nous n'en avons pas trouvé.
acheter
acheté
Nous ne l'avons pas acheté.
vendre
vendu
Nous ne l'avons pas vendu.
voir

The Past (using “have”) seen

We didn't see it.

We didn't understand it.

He didn't understand it.

She didn't understand it.

me

She didn't understand me.

They didn't understand me.

to wait

waited

They didn't wait for you.

They didn't wait for me.

He didn't wait for me.

vu

Nous ne l'avons pas vu.

Nous ne l'avons pas compris.

Il ne l'a pas compris.

Elle ne l'a pas compris.

me

Elle ne m'a pas compris.

Ils ne m'ont pas compris.

attendre

attendu

Ils ne vous ont pas attendu.

Ils ne m'ont pas attendu.

Il ne m'a pas attendu.

The past (using “to be”)

Sometimes in French, you cannot use “have” for the past tense. Instead, you need to use a form of “to be”. This occurs when you use a verb →2 in the past that involves going or coming in any sense.

So, when you are talking about going, coming, arriving, departing, going out, going up, coming down, being born (coming into the world) or dying (going out of the world), you will use “to be” to form the past tense – not “to have”.

Therefore, to say in French that he has gone / he went you will literally say “he is gone”. To say she has arrived / she arrived you will say “she is arrived”. To say he has left / he left you will say “he is left”. This is, however, only for verbs that involve going or coming in some sense. →3 Let’s look at an example:

I am to arrive arrived

Je suis arriver arrivé / arrivée / arrivés / arrivées

I have arrived.

Je suis arrivé / arrivée.

We are

Nous sommes

We have arrived.

Nous sommes arrivés /
arrivées.

Before moving on, it is probably worth explaining why “arrived” is spelt in four different ways above – and sometimes in two different ways in a single sentence!

The first point to make is that, when speaking, this spelling difference doesn’t matter because all four spellings are pronounced in exactly the same way: arrivé. However, if you decide that you wish to learn to write French, you will need to be aware that the spelling for “arrived” changes according to what I like to call “the fiancé rule”.

→ JARGON BUSTER 2

What is a verb? An easy way to identify a verb is to see if you can put “I”, “he” or “we” directly in front of it. If you can, it is a verb. For example: I go, he eats, we fly, I buy, he thinks, we leave. All the underlined words are verbs; you know this because you can put “I”, “he” or “we” directly in front of them.

→ JARGON BUSTER 3

The exception to the ‘coming and going’ rule is rester, meaning to stay. After going or coming somewhere, of course, you would need somewhere to stay, which may help you to remember this.

The fiancé rule

You may well be thinking: what on earth is this? Well, we all know what a fiancé is: a person someone is engaged to. In English, a male person you are engaged to is spelt fiancé. However, a female person you are engaged to is spelt fiancée with an extra “e” on the end.

This fiancé/fiancée rule happens to apply to all verbs in French when they are used with “to be” to form the past tense. Let’s look at an example:

I have arrived. (said by a man)

Je suis arrivé.

I have arrived. (said by a woman)

Je suis arrivée.

You can see how, although it is arrivé for a man who has arrived, it is arrivée for a woman, with an extra “e” on the end. This is just the same as for fiancé/fiancée – fiancé for a man but fiancée, with an extra “e”, for a woman.

As stated earlier, however, it is only for this group of “going and coming” verbs (which use “to be” to form the past tense) that there is this difference. Normal verbs, which use “have” to form the past tense, are the same no matter who they refer to.

Take a look:

I have eaten. (said by a man)

J’ai mangé.

I have eaten. (said by a woman)

J’ai mangé.

You see? They are the same – and they never change!

The fiancé rule doesn’t simply stop here, however. In English, if you are engaged to one male person, he is your fiancé. If you’re engaged to one female person, she is your fiancée. What would happen, however, if you were very naughty and were simultaneously engaged to two people? Well, it works like anything else in English: you add an “s”.

I have one book.

but I have two books.

I have one male fiancé.

but I have two male fiancés.

I have one female fiancée.

but I have two female fiancées.

Now let’s see this in action in French:

I have arrived. (said by a man)

Je suis arrivé.

We have arrived. (said by two men)

Nous sommes arrivés.

I have arrived. (said by a woman)

Je suis arrivée.

We have arrived. (said by two women)

Nous sommes arrivées.

So, if you are familiar with the English word “fiancé”, you now know the fiancé rule and so can write very sophisticated, advanced and, crucially, correct French.

The fiancé rule shows you how to write the correct endings, depending on who it is that has arrived, gone, left etc. Let’s look at this through a series of examples:

I have arrived. (said by a man)

Je suis arrivé.

We have arrived. (said by two men)

Nous sommes arrivés.

The Past (using “to be”)

I have arrived. (said by a woman)
We have arrived. (said by two women)
You are
You have arrived. (said to one man)
You have arrived. (said to two men)
You have arrived. (said to one woman)
You have arrived. (said to two women)

Je suis arrivée.
Nous sommes arrivées.
Vous êtes
Vous êtes arrivé.
Vous êtes arrivés.
Vous êtes arrivée.
Vous êtes arrivées.

NOTE! Again, be aware that the spelling of “arrived” alters according to who it is that has arrived and always according to the fiancé rule.

Now take a look at these other verbs below and simply apply the rule in exactly the same way.

to go
gone
I have gone. (said by a man)
I have gone. (said by a woman)
We have gone. (said by two men)
We have gone. (said by two women)
You are
You have gone. (said to one man)
You have gone. (said to one woman)
You have gone. (said to two men)
You have gone. (said to two women) to come came
He came yesterday.
She came this morning.
to leave left
He left yesterday evening.
She left this evening.

aller
allé / allée / allés / allées
Je suis allé.
Je suis allée.
Nous sommes allés.
Nous sommes allées.
Vous êtes
Vous êtes allé.
Vous êtes allée.
Vous êtes allés.
Vous êtes allées.
venir
venu / venue / venus / venues
Il est venu hier.
Elle est venue ce matin.
partir
parti / partie / partis / parties
Il est parti hier soir.
Elle est partie ce soir.

The present

Using “it is”

Words ending in “-ic” and “-ical” in English end in “-ique” in French.

typical	typique
exotic	exotique
political	politique
It is	C'est
It is typical!	C'est typique!
It is exotic!	C'est exotique!
It is political!	C'est politique!
It is not	Ce n'est pas
It is not political!	Ce n'est pas politique!
It is not exotic!	Ce n'est pas exotique!

Talking about what you would like to, want to, can and must do

“I would like to...”

I would like	Je voudrais
I would like to prepare the dinner.	Je voudrais préparer le dîner.
with you	avec vous
I would like to prepare the dinner with you.	Je voudrais préparer le dîner avec vous.
I would like to prepare the dinner because	Je voudrais préparer le dîner
	parce que
I'm hungry (I have hunger).	J'ai faim.

NOTE! You will probably remember, from your time with the audio, that the “m” at the end of faim is not clearly pronounced but rather is only touched on nasally. This is because, in general, consonants on the very end of French words are not pronounced unless they are in FoR LuCK.

I would like to prepare the coffee because

Je voudrais préparer le café
parce que

I am thirsty (I have thirst).

J'ai soif.

NOTE! By contrast, the “f” on the end of soif is pronounced because it is in

FoR LuCK.

I would like to prepare the coffee for you.

Je voudrais préparer le café
pour vous.

I would like to prepare the roast beef for
(the) dinner.

Je voudrais préparer le rosbif
pour le dîner.

I would like to reserve a table.

Je voudrais réserver une table.

I would like to reserve a table for dinner.

Je voudrais réserver une table
pour le dîner.

to know

savoir

I would like to know

Je voudrais savoir

if si

I would like to know if it is possible.

Je voudrais savoir si c'est possible.

you want vous voulez

you want it

vous le voulez

I would like to know if you want it.

Je voudrais savoir si vous le voulez.

I would like to know if you want some (of it).

Je voudrais savoir si vous en voulez.

why

pourquoi

I would like to know why you want some (of it).

Je voudrais savoir pourquoi
vous en voulez.

I would like to know why it is possible.

Je voudrais savoir pourquoi
c'est possible.

I would like to know why it is not possible.

Je voudrais savoir pourquoi
ce n'est pas possible.

“want”

there là

I want to go there.

Je veux aller là.

It is possible (and in fact usual) in French to replace là with y, which also means there. Let's look at both:

to go there (using là)

to go there (using y)

I want to go there.

I want to go there with you.

I don't want to go there.

You don't want to go there. (inf.)

He wants to go there.

She wants to go there.

to eat

She wants to eat.

We want to eat.

You want to eat.

They want to eat.

They want to eat. (female group)

aller là

y aller

Je veux y aller.

Je veux y aller avec vous.

Je ne veux pas y aller.

Tu ne veux pas y aller.

Il veut y aller.

Elle veut y aller.

manger

Elle veut manger.

Nous voulons manger.

Vous voulez manger.

Ils veulent manger.

Elles veulent manger.

NOTE! Don't forget that veulent is pronounced "vurl". The letters "ent" are silent here, as they are whenever "ent" comes at the end of a verb that follows "they".

They don't want to eat.

They don't want to eat it.

I want to know why they don't want to eat it.

I want to know why they don't want to eat any of it.

Ils ne veulent pas manger.

Ils ne veulent pas le manger.

Je veux savoir pourquoi ils ne veulent pas le manger.

Je veux savoir pourquoi ils ne veulent pas en manger.

"can"

I can go there with you.

I can go there this evening.

I cannot go there this evening.

You cannot go there this evening. (inf.)

He can go there this evening.

Je peux y aller avec vous.

Je peux y aller ce soir.

Je ne peux pas y aller ce soir.

Tu ne peux pas y aller ce soir.

Il peut y aller ce soir.

The Present

He cannot go there this evening.
We can go there this evening.
We cannot go there this evening.

We cannot come this evening.

to see

We cannot see it.
They cannot see it.
They cannot see it. (female group)
They cannot see any of it.

Il ne peut pas y aller ce soir.
Nous pouvons y aller ce soir.
Nous ne pouvons pas y aller
ce soir.

Nous ne pouvons pas venir
ce soir.

voir

Nous ne pouvons pas le voir.
Ils ne peuvent pas le voir.
Elles ne peuvent pas le voir.
Ils ne peuvent pas en voir.

NOTE! Don't forget that peuvent is pronounced "perv". The letters "ent" are silent here, as they are whenever "ent" comes at the end of a verb that follows "they".

to leave

They cannot leave.
tomorrow
They cannot leave tomorrow.

to go out

They cannot go out tomorrow.

I would like to know why they cannot go out tomorrow.

to understand

They cannot understand it.

They cannot understand me.

They cannot understand you.

to sell

They cannot sell it.
They cannot sell any of it.

partir

Ils ne peuvent pas partir.
demain
Ils ne peuvent pas partir
demain.

sortir

Ils ne peuvent pas sortir
demain.
Je voudrais savoir pourquoi ils ne peuvent pas sortir demain.

comprendre

Ils ne peuvent pas le comprendre.

Ils ne peuvent pas me
comprendre.

Ils ne peuvent pas vous comprendre.

vendre

Ils ne peuvent pas le vendre.
Ils ne peuvent pas en vendre.

to wait
to wait for you
They cannot wait for you.

attendre
vous attendre
Ils ne peuvent pas vous attendre.

to wait for me
He can wait for me.

m'attendre
Il peut m'attendre.

NOTE! Make sure, when pronouncing these verbs that end in “dre”, to pronounce the “dre” very clearly. It is pronounced like the “dra” at the end of the English name “Sandra”.

“must”

I must go there with you.
to prepare the dinner
I must prepare the dinner.
to prepare it
I must prepare it.
You must prepare it. (inf.)
She must prepare it.
She must find it.
We must find it.
We must find some (of it).
You must buy some (of it).
They must buy some (of it).
They must buy some (of it). (female group)

Je dois y aller avec vous.
préparer le dîner
Je dois préparer le dîner.
le préparer
Je dois le préparer.
Tu dois le préparer.
Elle doit le préparer.
Elle doit le trouver.
Nous devons le trouver.
Nous devons en trouver.
Vous devez en acheter.
Ils doivent en acheter.
Elles doivent en acheter.

NOTE! Don't forget that doivent is pronounced “dwoirve”. The letters “ent” are silent here, as they are whenever “ent” comes at the end of a verb that follows “they”.

The present tense without “want”, “can”, “must” etc.

We will now take a look at the more general present tense in French – the present tense without “want”, “can”, “must” etc. By the end of this quick run-through, you will be able to use the vast majority of verbs in the French language, in the present tense, with almost no difficulty whatsoever. To do this, you need only to follow two very simple steps.

The first step: chop off the “r”! – Verbs ending in “er”

To use the present tense with verbs that end in “er” in French, simply chop off the “r” and pronounce the consonant at the end of the word. Let’s take “to think” as an example.

to think

penser

In order to say I think, he thinks, she thinks etc., simply chop off the “r” from the end of penser and you are left with pense (pronounced rather like “ponse” in the English word response). Let’s try a few examples:

I think / I am thinking

Je pense

He thinks / He is thinking

Il pense

She thinks / She is thinking

Elle pense

You see? Having simply chopped off the “r” from penser, we have discovered the present tense for I, he and she.

Chopping off the “r” also works for you think (inf) and for they think in spoken French, as they both sound exactly the same as pense above. For those interested in learning to write the language, however, notice that there’s a spelling change (although the pronunciation remains exactly the same as it is for the examples above). Let’s take a look:

You think / You are thinking (inf.)
 They think / They are thinking
 They think / They are thinking
 (female group)

Tu penses
Ils pensent
Elles pensent

NOTE! As you will recall, the letters “ent” are silent whenever “ent” comes at the end of a verb that follows “they”, and so pensent is still pronounced “pense” – exactly the same pronunciation as for the other spellings above.

Therefore, to find the present tense for I, he, she, you (inf.) and they – for verbs ending in “er” – simply chop off the “r” and pronounce the consonant at the end of the word.

The second step: swap the “r”! – Verbs ending in “er”

Chopping off the “r” above has given us the present tense for everything except you (formal) and we, which behave slightly differently from the others but which are also extremely straightforward. To work out how to say you think / you are thinking, you simply copy the sound of “to think”.

to think
 You think / You are thinking

penser
Vous pensez

Although spelt differently, penser and pensez are pronounced in exactly the same way, so if you know how to say to think, to eat, to speak etc., that means you also know how to say you think, you eat, you speak etc. They sound exactly the same, the only difference being in the spelling, because you swap the “r” at the end for a “z”.

For we think / we are thinking you simply have an “ons” instead of an “ez” at the end.

You think / You are thinking

Vous pensez

We think / We are thinking

Nous pensons

NOTE! These patterns work in exactly the same way for all regular verbs ending in “er” in French – that’s almost 90% of all verbs in the French language!

Let’s take a look now at how this applies to the minority of verbs in French that don’t end in “er”.

The first step: chop off the “r”! – Verbs not ending in “er”

For regular French verbs that don’t end in “er”, again you simply chop off the “r” – along with any letters that follow it – but then you do not pronounce the last consonant at the end of the word. Let’s take “to wait” as an example.

to wait

attendre

In order to say he waits, she waits etc., again simply chop off the “r” from the end of attendre – along with any letters that follow it – and you will be left with attend, pronounced “atton”. Now, let’s use it!

He waits / He is waiting

Il attend

She waits / She is waiting

Elle attend

As you can see, having simply chopped off the “r” – along with any letters that follow it – from attendre, we have once again discovered the present tense.

Chopping off the “r” also works for I wait and for you wait (inf.) in spoken French, as they both sound exactly the same as attend above. For those interested in learning to write the language, however, notice that there is a minor spelling change (although the pronunciation remains exactly the same as it is above).

I wait / I am waiting

J’attends

You wait / You are waiting (inf.)

Tu attends

This same step described above can be taken with countless other “non-er” verbs, for example “to finish”.

to finish

finir

Again, you simply cut off the “r” and then make sure not to pronounce the consonant at the end of the word, if there is one. In the case of finir there will again be some spelling variations, as there are above, but each variation will be pronounced in exactly the same way; in this case they are all pronounced “fni”.

I finish / I am finishing

Je finis

You finish / You are finishing (inf.)

Tu finis

He finishes / He is finishing

Il finit

She finishes / She is finishing

Elle finit

Again, therefore, for regular verbs that do not end in “er” (verbs ending in “re” or “ir”, that is), simply chop off the “r” – along with any letters that follow it – but then do not pronounce the last consonant at the end of the word.

The second step: swap the “r”! – Verbs not ending in “er”

Returning to our first “non-er” verb example, attendre, you can see that chopping off the “r” above hasn’t given us the present tense for you (formal) or for we, which behave slightly differently from the others. Fortunately, however, they are extremely straightforward because they follow exactly the same pattern as the “er” verbs earlier; simply swap the “r” – along with any letters that follow it – and replace them with either an “ez” for you, or an “ons” for we. Let’s compare the “er” and the “non-er” verbs:

You think / You are thinking

Vous pensez

You wait / You are waiting

Vous attendez

We think / We are thinking

Nous pensons

We wait / We are waiting

Nous attendons

NOTE! As you can see, the you form simply ends with “ez” and the we form with “ons”. This is the same in both the “er” and “non-er” groups and so should be easy to remember.

The future

Using “going to” / “aller” to express the future

“Going to” can be used in essentially the same way as it is in English in order to express what you are “going to” do in the future. It is very easy to get the hang of, as you will see!

to go

You are going

We are going

I am going

He is going

She is going

You are going (inf.)

They are going

They are going (female group)

to eat

I'm going to eat.

I'm going to eat it.

I am going to go there.

later

I'm going to go there later.

He is going to prepare

He is going to prepare the dinner.

He is going to go out this evening.

She is going to leave this evening.

to stay

You are going to stay here this evening.

You are going to stay here this evening. (inf.)

We are going to take it.

They are going to take it.

They are going to take it. (female group)

aller

Vous allez

Nous allons

Je vais

Il va

Elle va

Tu vas

Ils vont

Elles vont

manger

Je vais manger.

Je vais le manger.

Je vais y aller.

plus tard

Je vais y aller plus tard.

Il va préparer

Il va préparer le dîner.

Il va sortir ce soir.

Elle va partir ce soir.

rester

Vous allez rester ici ce soir.

Tu vas rester ici ce soir.

Nous allons le prendre.

Ils vont le prendre.

Elles vont le prendre.

Using “going to” / “aller” in questions

Are you going to prepare dinner
this evening?

Est-ce que vous allez préparer
le dîner ce soir? /

Allez-vous préparer le dîner
ce soir? /

Vous allez préparer le dîner
ce soir?

Are you going to prepare dinner
this evening? (inf.)

Est-ce que tu vas préparer
le dîner ce soir? /

Vas-tu préparer le dîner
ce soir? /

Tu vas préparer le dîner
ce soir?

Using “will” to express the future

There are two main ways to express the future in French. The first is by using “going to”, which we have just looked at above; the second is by using “will”. “Going to” and “will” are relatively interchangeable in spoken French, so in general you will be able to use whichever you prefer when speaking the language. In formal written French, however, there is a preference for “will”.

Let’s learn about this tense now.

NOTE! The key to using “will” correctly is simply to hook the appropriate version of “have/has” onto the “r” at the end of a verb.

I have

J’ai

Therefore “have”, for “I” / je, is “ai”.

Hook this “ai” onto the “r” at the end of a verb, such as “to eat”, which is manger, and you will get mangerai, which means will eat.

I will eat.

Je mangerai.

The Future

“To leave” is partir.

I will leave

Je partirai.

“To speak” is parler.

I will speak

Je parlerai

We can also make “he will” simply by looking at “he has”:

He has

Il a

Again, we simply hook the a onto the “r” at the end of the verb.

He will leave

Il partira

He will eat

Il mangera

He will speak

Il parlera

Let’s look now at you have and we have.

You have

Vous avez

We have

Nous avons

For you and we, you will use only the ends of the words for “have”. For you take the “ez” from avez, and for we take the “ons” from avons, and then hook them onto the “r” at the end of the verb.

You will leave.

Vous partirez.

You will eat.

Vous mangerez.

You will speak.

Vous parlerez.

We will leave.

Nous partirons.

We will eat.

Nous mangerons.

We will speak.

Nous parlerons.

They have

Ils ont

They will leave.

Ils partiront.

They will eat.

Ils mangeront.

They will speak.
They will speak with you tomorrow.

Ils parleront.
Ils parleront avec vous
demain.

You have (inf.)
You will leave. (inf.)
You will eat. (inf.)
You will speak. (inf.)

Tu as Tu partiras.
Tu mangeras.
Tu parleras.

As you can see, this is not so difficult, as long as you know the French for “have/has”. In terms of pronunciation, the key sound at the end of these words is the “have/has” hooked onto the “r”. It is important to make this “r” sound clear.

For I will and you will the key sound at the end of the words is “Ray” – they are spelt differently (“rai” and “rez” respectively) but are pronounced in the same way.

For we will and they will the key sound at the end of the words is “Ron” – they are spelt differently (“rons” and “ront” respectively) but are pronounced in the same way.

For he will, she will and they will (inf.) the key sound at the end of the words is “Ra”.

So, in terms of the sounds you will hear at the end of the words, remember that it will always be either Ray, Ron or (the Sun God) Ra leading you into the future – without exception!

Let’s look at a few examples:

I will eat with you later.
We will eat with you tomorrow morning.
He will leave this evening.

Je mangerai avec vous
plus tard.
Nous mangerons avec vous demain matin.
Il partira ce soir.

The Future

Let's try it with another verb, this time one ending in “dre”. Again, simply hook the correct endings onto the “r”.

I will wait.

I will wait for you.

He will wait for you.

He will wait for me.

He won't wait for me.

She won't wait for me this evening.

J'attendrai.

Je vous attendrai.

Il vous attendra.

Il m'attendra.

Il ne m'attendra pas.

Elle ne m'attendra pas ce soir.

Travelling in France

You now have a chance to use what you have learnt to deal with those everyday situations you are likely to come across when travelling in a French-speaking country.

You will be familiar with the scenarios below from their use on the audio. The best way to use them here is in the same way as in the core course review above: first read through a scenario, looking at both the English and the French, and then go back to the beginning of that same scenario and, while covering the French side of the text, translate the English into French – just as you did when you listened to the audio.

At the hotel

Traveller	I would like a room for two people for two nights.	Je voudrais une chambre pour deux personnes pour deux nuits.
Receptionist	I have a room for two people with (a) shower.	J'ai une chambre pour deux personnes avec douche.
Traveller	It's how much?	C'est combien?
Receptionist	For two nights, with breakfast... 100 euros.	Pour deux nuits, avec petit déjeuner... cent euros.
Traveller	Can I see it (her)?	Je peux la voir?
Receptionist	Yes.	Oui.

You are taken up to see the room; it's not bad.

Traveller	Ah yes, it's perfect!	Ah oui, c'est parfait!
------------------	-----------------------	-------------------------------

You go back downstairs to reception.

Receptionist	Your name, please?	Votre nom, s'il vous plaît?
Traveller	Say and then spell your name. (See page 60 for spelling guidance.)
Receptionist	How are you paying?	Comment payez-vous?
Traveller	Can I pay by (with a) credit card?	Je peux payer avec une carte de crédit?
Receptionist	Yes.	Oui.

The receptionist then takes your card, and you enter your PIN.

Traveller	Thank you.	Merci.
Receptionist	Thank you.	Merci.

Eating out

On the telephone

Traveller	I would like to reserve a table for two people.	Je voudrais réserver une table pour deux personnes.
Restaurant	For this evening?	Pour ce soir?
Traveller	Yes, for seven o'clock.	Oui, pour sept heures.
Restaurant	Your name, please.	Votre nom, s'il vous plaît.
Traveller	Say and then spell your name. (See page 60 for spelling guidance.)
Restaurant	Thank you, bye.	Merci, au revoir.

Later, at the hotel reception

Traveller	Where is it that I can get a taxi?	Où est-ce que je peux prendre un taxi?
-----------	------------------------------------	---

The concierge flags one down for you and you get in.

Traveller	The Louvre, please.	Le Louvre, s'il vous plaît.
-----------	---------------------	------------------------------------

The taxi arrives outside the Louvre, just opposite the restaurant.

Traveller	Keep the change.	Gardez la monnaie.
Taxi driver	Thanks.	Merci.

You cross the road and enter the restaurant.

Traveller	We have reserved (a table).	Nous avons réservé.
-----------	-----------------------------	----------------------------

You are seated, given a menu and decide to order something inexpensive.

Traveller	A bottle of white wine and two dishes of the day, please.	Une bouteille de vin blanc et deux plats du jour, s'il vous plaît.
-----------	---	---

You finish your meal but have clearly drunk too much wine.

Traveller	Where are the toilets?	Où sont les toilettes?
------------------	------------------------	-------------------------------

The waiter gestures in their direction and, later, after you come back:

Waiter	Would you like (Desire you to take) a coffee?	Désirez-vous prendre un café?
Traveller	Yes, two coffees and the bill, please.	Oui, deux cafés et l'addition, s'il vous plaît.

At the tourist office / Getting directions

In the street

Traveller	Excuse me, where is the tourist office?	Pardon, où est l'office du tourisme?
Parisian	The tourist office is opposite the cathedral, over there. It's signposted (indicated).	L'office du tourisme est en face de la cathédrale, là-bas. C'est indiqué.

In the tourist office

Traveller	I would like to visit Chartres. Do you have a guide?	Je voudrais visiter Chartres. Vous avez un guide?
Tourist officer	Yes, we have a guide of the region.	Oui, nous avons un guide de la région.
Traveller	How much is it?	C'est combien.
Tourist officer	Five euros.	Cinq euros.

You pay and take the guide.

Traveller	Thank you.	Merci.
------------------	------------	---------------

Back outside

Traveller	Excuse me, in order to get to the train station?	Pardon, pour aller à la gare?
Parisian	Continue straight on, after the cathedral turn right – no, no, sorry, left.	Continuez tout droit, après la cathédrale tournez à droite – non, non, pardon, à gauche.
Traveller	Thank you.	Merci.

Taking a train

At the train station

Traveller	Where can I buy a ticket?	Où est-ce que je peux acheter un billet?
Station employee	Over there.	Là-bas.
Traveller	Thank you.	Merci.

In the ticket office

Traveller	Two tickets for Chartres, please.	Deux billets pour Chartres, s'il vous plaît.
Ticket clerk	Single or return?	Aller simple ou aller-retour?
Traveller	Return, please.	Aller-retour, s'il vous plaît.
	Do I have to change (trains)?	Dois-je changer?
Ticket clerk	No, it's not necessary.	Non, ce n'est pas nécessaire.
	Eighteen euros, please.	Dix-huit euros, s'il vous plaît.

You pay and she hands you your tickets.

Ticket clerk	Your tickets.	Vos billets.
Traveller	Thank you.	Merci.

On the platform

Traveller	This is the train for Chartres?	C'est le train pour Chartres?
Station guard	No, the train for Chartres is over there.	Non, le train pour Chartres est là-bas.

Some time later, on a train headed for Chartres

Conductor	Prepare your tickets, please.	Préparez vos billets, s'il vous plaît.
-----------	-------------------------------	---

To another passenger, who has brought a bicycle on board:

Conductor	You must pay a supplement.	Vous devez payer un supplément.
-----------	----------------------------	--

Finally, he reaches the area where you are sitting.

Conductor	Tickets, please.	Billets, s'il vous plaît.
-----------	------------------	----------------------------------

A while later, as the train slows down, you ask another passenger:

Traveller	I'm going to Chartres. Do I have to get off (descend) here?	Je vais à Chartres. Dois-je descendre ici?
Passenger	Yes.	Oui.

You get off the train.

A brief encounter

Outside, looking for the market

Traveller	Excuse me, is there a market here?	Pardon, est-ce qu'il y a un marché ici?
------------------	------------------------------------	--

The gentleman you ask replies but you do not understand.

Traveller	I don't understand. Can you repeat that, please?	Je ne comprends pas. Pouvez-vous répéter, s'il vous plaît?
------------------	--	---

Again, you do not understand because he speaks so quickly.

Traveller	Can you speak more slowly, please?	Pouvez-vous parler plus lentement, s'il vous plaît?
------------------	------------------------------------	--

He tries again, this time more slowly.

Man in the street	Go straight down there, turn left after the cathedral.	Continuez tout droit, après la cathédrale tournez à gauche.
Traveller	Ah, I understand. Thank you.	Ah, je comprends. Merci.

You are about to leave but he continues talking to you.

Man in the street	Where are you from?	Vous êtes d'où?
--------------------------	---------------------	------------------------

You say where you are from.

Traveller	I'm from And you?	Je suis de Et vous?
Man in the street	I'm from Toulouse. I'm Jacques.	Je suis de Toulouse. Je suis Jacques.

You tell him your name.

Traveller	I'm	Je suis
------------------	-----------	----------------------

You note how smartly dressed he is and ask him what it is he does.

Traveller	What do you do? / What is your profession?	Quelle est votre profession?
Man in the street	I'm (a) civil servant. And you?	Je suis fonctionnaire. Et vous?

You tell him your profession.

Traveller	I'm a	Je suis
------------------	-------------	----------------------

He looks at his watch.

Man in the street	I'm sorry but I must go/leave. Goodbye.	Je regrette mais je dois partir. Au revoir.
Traveller	Bye.	Au revoir.

Shopping at the market

At the first stall

Traveller	Can you help me?	Pouvez-vous m'aider?
First stallholder	What would you like?	Qu'est-ce que vous désirez?
Traveller	Do you have any cheese?	Est-ce que vous avez du fromage?
First stallholder	Yes.	Oui.
Traveller	I would like 200 grams of brie.	Je voudrais deux cent grammes de brie.
	Do you have a bag?	Vous avez un sac?

He gives you a bag.

First stallholder	That's all?	C'est tout?
Traveller	Yes, that's all. How much is it?	Oui, c'est tout. C'est combien?
First stallholder	Ten euros.	Dix euros.

At the second stall

Second stallholder	Can I help you?	Je peux vous aider?
Traveller	I would like a baguette, please.	Je voudrais une baguette, s'il vous plaît.
Second stallholder	There you go. That's all?	Voilà. C'est tout?

Traveller	No, I would like an éclair.	Non, je voudrais un éclair.
Second stallholder	I'm sorry, we don't have any.	Je suis désolé, nous n'en avons pas.
Traveller	Okay, how much is it?	Ah bon, c'est combien?
Second stallholder	Two euros.	Deux euros.

You pay and go off to eat your bread and cheese.

Seeing a doctor

Feeling unwell, you go down to the reception in your hotel.

Traveller	I'm ill. Can you recommend me a doctor?	Je suis malade. Pouvez-vous me recommander un docteur?
Receptionist	Is it urgent?	C'est urgent?
Traveller	Yes, it's very urgent – and can the doctor come here?	Oui, c'est très urgent – et est-ce que le docteur peut venir ici?
Receptionist	Yes, one moment please.	Oui, un moment, s'il vous plaît.
Receptionist	He is going to come immediately (tout de suite).	Il va venir tout de suite.

The doctor arrives a while later and comes to your room.

Doctor	What's wrong? / What are your symptoms?	Quels sont vos symptômes?
Traveller	I have been sick.	J'ai vomi.
Doctor	Do you have a fever?	Avez-vous de la fièvre?
Traveller	Yes.	Oui.
Doctor	Since when?	Depuis quand?
Traveller	For (since) two hours.	Depuis deux heures.
Doctor	Can you tell me... Are you diabetic?	Pouvez-vous me dire... Êtes-vous diabétique?
Traveller	No.	Non.

Doctor	Do you have a heart condition?	Êtes-vous cardiaque?
Traveller	No.	Non.
Doctor	Are you asthmatic?	Êtes-vous asthmatique?
Traveller	No.	Non.

He examines you further and then decides.

Doctor	You have sunstroke.	Vous avez une insolation.
Traveller	Is it serious?	C'est grave?
Doctor	No, it's not very serious but you mustn't go out today.	Non, ce n'est pas très grave mais vous ne devez pas sortir aujourd'hui.

He leaves you some rehydration salts and says goodbye.

Traveller	Thank you, goodbye.	Merci, au revoir.
------------------	---------------------	--------------------------

Finding a campsite

Traveller	Where is the camping site?	Où est le camping?
Passerby	The camping site's over there!	Le camping est là-bas.

You walk over to someone who appears to be a farmer / campsite owner.

Traveller	Can we camp here?	Pouvons-nous camper ici?
Farmer	Yes, you can camp here.	Oui, vous pouvez camper ici.
Traveller	For one night, it's how much?	Pour une nuit, c'est combien?
Farmer	Caravan ten euros, tent five euros.	Caravane dix euros, tente cinq euros.
Traveller	I have a tent and I would like to stay for three nights.	J'ai une tente et je voudrais rester pour trois nuits.
Farmer	Fifteen euros.	Quinze euros.

Taking a taxi

Traveller	The Louvre, please.	Le Louvre, s'il vous plaît.
	It's how much?	C'est combien?
Driver	Ten euros.	Dix euros.
Traveller	Keep the change!	Gardez la monnaie!

At a café

Waiter	What would you like? (You desire?)	Vous désirez?
Traveller	A coffee, please.	Un café, s'il vous plaît.
Traveller 2	For me, a white wine and a sandwich, please.	Pour moi, un vin blanc et un sandwich, s'il vous plaît.
Traveller	It's how much?	C'est combien?
Waiter	Six euros.	Six euros.

Taking a bus

Traveller	Where can I buy a ticket?	Où est-ce que je peux acheter un billet?
Bus driver	Over there.	Là-bas.
Traveller	A ticket for Bordeaux, please.	Un billet pour Bordeaux, s'il vous plaît.
Ticket office clerk	Single or return?	Aller simple ou aller-retour?
Traveller	Return please.	Aller-retour, s'il vous plaît.
Ticket office clerk	Twelve euros, please.	Douze euros, s'il vous plaît.

Introducing yourself

Traveller	I'm I'm from..... And you?	Je suis Je suis de Et vous?
Marion	I'm Marion. I'm from Normandy.	Je suis Marion. Je suis de Normandie.
Traveller	What do you do? / What is your profession?	Quelle est votre profession?
Marion	I'm (a) teacher.	Je suis professeur.

At the bakery

Baker	What would you like? (You desire?)	Vous désirez?
Traveller	A baguette, please.	Une baguette, s'il vous plaît.
Baker	That's all?	C'est tout?
Traveller	No. Two croissants and a pain au chocolat.	Non. Deux croissants et un pain au chocolat.
Baker	That's all ?	C'est tout?
Traveller	Yes, that's all.	Oui, c'est tout.
Baker	Four euros, please.	Quatre euros, s'il vous plaît.

At the pharmacy

Traveller	I am ill.	Je suis malade.
Pharmacist	What's wrong? / What are your symptoms?	Quels sont vos symptômes?
Traveller	I have been sick.	J'ai vomi.
Pharmacist	Do you have a fever?	Avez-vous de la fièvre?
Traveller	Yes.	Oui.
Pharmacist	You have sunstroke and I think that you should (must) see a doctor.	Vous avez une insolation et je pense que vous devez voir un docteur.

Essential verbs: a snapshot

I go / I am going	je vais
he goes / he is going	il va
she goes/ she is going	elle va
you go / you are going (inf.)	tu vas
you go / you are going	vous allez
we go / we are going	nous allons they go / they are going	ils vont
they go/ they are going (pl)	elles vont
Root verb (to go)	aller

I have	j'ai
he has	il a
she has	elle a
you have (inf.)	tu as
you have	vous avez
we have	nous avons
they have	ils ont
they have (pl)	elles ont
Root verb (to have)	avoir

I must	je dois
he must	il doit
she must	elle doit
you must (inf.)	tu dois
you must	vous devez
we must	nous devons
they must	ils doivent (pronounced dwoirve)
they must (f)	ils doivent (pronounced dwoirve)
Root verb (must/have to)	devoir

I am	je suis
he is	il est
she is	elle est
you are (inf.)	tu es
you are	vous êtes
we are	nous sommes
they are	ils sont
they are (f)	elles sont
Root verb (to be)	être

Essential Verbs

I can	je peux
he can	il peut
she can	elle peut
you can (inf.)	tu peux
you can	vous pouvez
we can	nous pouvons
they can	ils peuvent (pronounced perv)
they can (f)	elles peuvent
Root verb (can / to be able to)	pouvoir

I want	je veux
he wants	il veut
she wants	elle veut
you want (inf.)	tu veux
you want	vous voulez
we want	nous voulons
they want	ils veulent (pronounced vurl)
they want (f)	elles veulent
Root verb (to want)	vouloir

Numbers

You can listen to all these numbers in chapter 31 of the audio for the correct pronunciation.

0	zéro	30	trente
1	un	31	trente et un
2	deux	32	trente-deux
3	trois	33	trente-trois
4	quatre	34	trente-quatre
5	cinq	35	trente-cinq
6	six	36	trente-six
7	sept	37	trente-sept
8	huit	38	trente-huit
9	neuf	39	trente-neuf
10	dix	40	quarante
11	onze	41	quarante et un
12	douze	42	quarante-deux
13	treize	43	quarante-trois
14	quatorze	44	quarante-quatre
15	quinze	45	quarante-cinq
16	seize	46	quarante-six
17	dix-sept	47	quarante-sept
18	dix-huit	48	quarante-huit
19	dix-neuf	49	quarante-neuf
20	vingt	50	cinquante
21	vingt et un	51	cinquante et un
22	vingt-deux	52	cinquante-deux
23	vingt-trois	53	cinquante-trois
24	vingt-quatre	54	cinquante-quatre
25	vingt-cinq	55	cinquante-cinq
26	vingt-six	56	cinquante-six
27	vingt-sept	57	cinquante-sept
28	vingt-huit	58	cinquante-huit
29	vingt-neuf	59	cinquante-neuf

60	soixante	94	quatre-vingt-quatorze
61	soixante et un	95	quatre-vingt-quinze
62	soixante-deux	96	quatre-vingt-seize
63	soixante-trois	97	quatre-vingt-dix-sept
64	soixante-quatre	98	quatre-vingt-dix-huit
65	soixante-cinq	99	quatre-vingt-dix-neuf
66	soixante-six	100	cent
67	soixante-sept	101	cent un
68	soixante-huit	102	cent deux
69	soixante-neuf	103	cent trois
70	soixante-dix	104	cent quatre
71	soixante et onze	105	cent cinq
72	soixante-douze	106	cent six
73	soixante-treize	107	cent sept
74	soixante-quatorze	108	cent huit
75	soixante-quinze	109	cent neuf
76	soixante-seize	110	cent dix
77	soixante-dix-sept	111	cent onze
78	soixante-dix-huit	112	cent douze
79	soixante-dix-neuf	113	cent treize
80	quatre vingts	114	cent quatorze
81	quatre-vingt-un	115	cent quinze
82	quatre-vingt-deux	116	cent seize
83	quatre-vingt-trois	117	cent dix-sept
84	quatre-vingt-quatre	118	cent dix-huit
85	quatre-vingt-cinq	119	cent dix-neuf
86	quatre-vingt-six	120	cent vingt
87	quatre-vingt-sept	121	cent vingt et un
88	quatre-vingt-huit	122	cent vingt-deux
89	quatre-vingt-neuf
90	quatre-vingt-dix
91	quatre-vingt-onze
92	quatre-vingt-douze
93	quatre-vingt-treize

and so on...

130	cent trente
140	cent quarante
200	deux cents
201	deux cent un
202	deux cent deux
250	deux cent cinquante
1000	mille
1001	mille un
2000	deux mille
50,000	cinquante mille
500,000	cinq cent mille
1,000,000	un million

The alphabet

You can listen to the entire French alphabet in chapter 32 of the audio for the correct pronunciation.

Letter	Pronounced in French as
A	ah
B	bay
C	say
D	day
E	uh
F	ef
G	zhay (or the French j'ai)
H	ash
I	ee
J	zhee
K	kah
L	ell
M	emm
N	enn
O	oh
P	pay

Q	kew (Round your lips as though you are going to whistle, but instead of whistling say the English word “key” while keeping your lips in the rounded, whistling position.)
R	ehr
S	ess
T	tay
U	ew (Round your lips as though you are going to whistle, but instead of whistling say the English letter “e” while keeping your lips in the rounded, whistling position.)
V	vay
W	doo-bluh-vay
X	eex
Y	ee-grek
Z	zed

Audio track order

Part 1

Topic	Key elements
Welcome
Ground rules	Relax and don't worry if you forget
Entente cordiale	The similarities between French and English
The past with have	Including: I have, you have, have you?
You have	A question of pronunciation
He has, she has	Plus your
-ation words and the café E	1,250 easy French words
Three into one will go	I have decorated, I decorated, I did decorate
To prepare	Plus I would like, hungry, thirsty
The 'For luck' rule	Knowing when to pronounce consonants on the end of words
Finding French words	Including chambre, personne, nuit
-ic and -icle words	Plus it is
Do you want?	Plus to know, if

Topic	Key elements
It's not	Forming the negative
Another way of asking questions	A question of intonation; plus why, with
I haven't	Using the negative in the past; plus I'm sorry but ...
Putting 'it' in its place	An introduction to pronouns; plus can, do, today
More questions	Est-ce que? – a third way of asking questions in French; plus we can
They	Ils peuvent ; plus me
To see	Plus her
A different kind of 'it'	Masculine and feminine; plus breakfast, perfect
How much is it?	Plus name, to stay, to pay
Numbers 1–20
Booking a hotel room	Plus euros and spelling your name
Where is it?	Plus there, over there and some camping vocabulary

Topic	Key elements
Carry on camping	A review of can and the negative
Using what you know 1	Booking a campsite
You and you	Formal (vous) and informal (tu)
A question of understanding 1	Comprendre with me and vous
Verbs	How to recognise them; plus the different endings
Wanting	Vouloir ; plus now
Leaving	Partir
They want	Plus to take
Female groups	Elles
Ordering drinks	Vous désirez? , l'addition
Giving instructions	Including keep the change , ordering food and wine
Using what you know 2	Taking a taxi
Using what you know 3	At the café
A little practice 1	Je veux and je peux ; plus this evening
A little formality	When to use tu
Where?	Practising asking questions
Using 'are'	Plus some pronunciation options

Part 2

Topic	Key elements
Telling the time	Plus we have
Using what you know 4	Eating out
A little practice 2	Can
Some and any	Using en
Going	Aller
'Proxy nouns'	Understanding pronouns
Here and there	Using y
Doing your duty 1	I/you/he/she/we must ; plus to wait for
Doing your duty 2	They must
A little practice 3	Devoir
Asking the way 1	Opposite, signposted ; plus office du tourisme
At the tourist office	Of the ; plus asking for a map

Topic	Key elements
Asking the way 2	Straight ahead; plus pour aller à
Asking the way 3	To the right, to the left; plus tourner, après
Using what you know 5	Finding your way
More and more	Later, bigger, smaller
A little practice 4	Devoir; plus acheter
A little practice 5	Où; plus billet; aller simple, aller-retour, ou
Using what you know 6	Buying a ticket
On the train	Changer, words ending -ary, descendre, supplément
A little practice 6	Devoir, pouvoir and vouloir
A little practice 7	Aller
Going, going	Je vais, tu vas, il/elle va, ils/elles vont
Still going	Plus à, vos, expirer
A little practice 8	On the move
Using what you know 7	A train trip
Best intentions	Using aller for the future; plus partir

Topic	Key elements
The 'have-stealing' rule	The position of pronouns in the past; plus they have
Déjà-vu	The past of voir and vendre
To have and to have not	Working with negatives in the past
Waiting game	Using attendre
Where are you from?	De, you are ; plus busy, determined, Londres
What is your profession?	Quel est? ; plus common professions
Using what you know 8	Introducing yourself
There is	Il y a
A question of understanding 2	Using comprendre
A question of understanding 3	Using répéter
A question of understanding 4	Parler plus lentement
Using what you know 9	Making contact
Pronunciation practice	Ils ont and elles ont

Topic	Key elements
A little practice 9	The past
An exception	Compris, pris
A little practice 10	Comprendre and pouvoir
A little practice 11	En
A little practice 12	Vouloir
A little practice 13	Devoir
A little practice 14	Using aller with le and la
A little practice 15	C'est ; plus tout
May Day	Aider ; plus French food
'Desolation'	Désolé ; plus practising it and some of it
Using what you know 10	Shopping at the market
A little practice 16	Pronouns and avoir

Part 3

Topic	Key elements
To be	Être
A little practice 17	Pronouns in the past
A different past	How to use être in the past
Coming and going 1	When to use être
Coming and going 2	More être verbs
Coming and going 3	In the negative; plus hier
Coming and going 4	With y
A little practice 18	Some common verbs
I think, therefore I am thinking	Penser ; plus forming the present tense
I think that ...	Introducing que
Feeling unwell	Explaining what's wrong
At the doctor's	More symptoms; plus since when? , a moment , please
Using what you know 11	At the pharmacy
A little practice 19	Coming and going; plus tout de suite , grave , more maladies
Using what you know 12	Calling the doctor

Topic	Key elements
One can	Using on peut
'One' meaning 'we'	Using on veut
A little practice 20	Vouloir and pouvoir
A little practice 21	Asking for and giving directions
A little practice 22	Travelling by train
A little practice 23	Asking the way
A little practice 24	Devoir and avoir
A little practice 25	Aller
A little practice 26	Avoir and the past tense with avoir
A little practice 27	Etre and the past tense with être
Only one present	Forming and using the present tense
The present in detail	The two groups of present tense words; plus donner
His and hers	Using le and la to mean, 'it', 'him' and 'her'
'L is for last'	Getting me , le and lui in the right order

Topic	Key elements
Giving them to them	Les and leur
Us and you	Nous and vous as pronouns
Going to	The future with aller
Another future	Forming the 'will' tense 1
'Ray', 'Ron' and 'Ra'	Forming the 'will' tense 2
On leave	The future of partir
A little practice 28	The future of parler
Wait for me	The future of attendre
A little practice 29	The future of donner
Numbers	With English prompts
Numbers	In French only
The French alphabet	Learn to spell in French
Goodbye

Review

Topic

Introduction

At the hotel and campsite

Eating and drinking

Finding the way

Travelling by train

What you are, where you are from

Asking questions

Shopping

At the doctor's

I have, you have

He has, he did

I would like 1

I would like 2

Review

Topic

I would like 3; plus '-ic' words

I would like 4

To have and to have not

Devoir, pouvoir, vouloir

Aller

Avoir

Can do; want to; it/him/her/them in the present

It/me in the past

The past with être

The future with aller

-ic words; at the campsite and hotel

At the café/restaurant

Where oh where?

Moving on

Être

Out and about

Shopping

Not feeling well

-er verbs in the present

-er and -ir verbs in the future

it/him/her/them in the future