

Threatened species

Since the start of the 21st century extinct, or virtually extinct species include the Baiji Dolphin, the West African Black Rhino and the Golden Toad. Careful regulation is required to limit human impact on the lives and future of threatened species.

